Kathy DuCharme is a Senior Consultant with the career transition practice of Ratliff & Taylor. She provides career guidance at all levels and takes a special interest in teaching candidates to capitalize on using the power of LinkedIn in their job search. She has over 15 years of experience working for several top human resources consulting firms.

Prior to her consulting career, Kathy spent eight years in human resources with Rockwell Automation during a period of rapid growth. There she was Manager of Training and Development and was also responsible for college and professional recruiting and succession planning. She has also worked for a small nonprofit and recently assisted a start-up company with the development of its human resources function prior to franchising the business.

Kathy has a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from the University of Akron. She is a certified career consultant and a certified professional development trainer. A native Ohioan, Kathy has relocated several times with her husband including accompanying him on a corporate assignment to Lyon, France.
